STORM'S FURY KILLED SCORES

In Its Devastating Sweep
Through Oklahoma.

PROPERTY DAMAGE IS GREAT

Two Towns Utterly Destroyed
—Heavy Rain Accompanied Wind.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF DAMAGE

Oklahoma City, Ok., April 23.—Approximately forty-one lives were lost in the storm which yesterday afternoon swept northward from Childress, Tex., into Oklahoma, and a portion of the southwestern and central part of this State, according to reliable reports. There are reports of other fatalities, but these cannot be verified. The list of injured totals more than one hundred. Fully twenty towns were embraced in the storm-swept area.

Up to an early hour Sunday night no word had come from the towns of Eldorado, Warren, Martha and Blair, all four of which Saturday were reported to have suffered severely.

It was not known Saturday night that the towns of Butler, Foss, Korn, Sentinel, Colony and Hinton had been struck. News of this effect was received from Arapahoe early Sunday afternoon. Relief parties were sent out from Arapahoe in automobiles early to-day and they report that the towns of Butler and Foss were literally wiped out.

The heavy wind was accompanied by a terrific downpour of rain and in many instances hail. The fall of rain amounted to from one to five inches. As a result all of the smaller streams in Western Oklahoma are on a rampage. The Rock Island bridge over the Cimarron river, thirty miles south of Enid, was washed out. All trains are being detoured.

The two branches of Elk creek west of Hobart have joined and the stream is over a mile wide.

A farmer's family of four, living west of Hobart, names unknown, are said to have been killed. High water prevents rescue parties from visiting that part of the country. All rural telephone lines are down.

All of Central Oklahoma seems demoralized and it will be several days before anything like an accurate estimate of the property loss or list of the dead and injured can be secured.

A call for aid was sent out today by town officials of Lugert, who say there are thirty destitute families there.

Summary of Damage.
Following is a summary of the damage to life and property in the storm-swept territory:

Foss, Okla.—Ten persons reported killed; twenty-five or thirty injured; town badly torn up.

Butler, Okla.—Nine reported killed; many injured; buildings blown down.

Sentinel, Okla.—Two persons reported killed; fifty houses blown down.

Hinton, Okla.—One person killed; many injured; score of buildings blown down.

Hobart, Okla.—Country west of this place visited by terrific winds; two known dead; four others reported dead; several injured; great damage to property.

Lugert, Okla.—Two killed; five fatally injured and score less seriously hurt; one store building left standing.

Rock, Okla.—One killed; half of town blown away; upward of dozen injured.

Calumet, Okla.—Three killed; six or eight injured; heavy property loss.

Eldorado, Okla.—No news since Saturday afternoon, when it was reported many killed and injured.

Martha, Warren and Blair still cut off from communication and nothing heard from them since Saturday's report that they were blown away.

Korn, Okla.—Town torn up, but no loss of life reported.

Colony, Okla.—Indian agency building wrecked; no loss of life or injuries reported.

Reports of numerous smaller cyclones received from Minco, Yukon,

Mulhall and points in Garfield county, south of Enid.

In the vicinity of Kirkland, Tex., near Childress, seven were killed and thirty farm houses were wrecked.

There was no one killed and no property damage at Childress.

CHILD ALMOST KILLED BY A VICIOUS MULE

Eminence, Ky., April 27.—Terribly maltreated by a maddened mule, little Andrew Roberts, son of Newton Roberts, a stock breeder of this county, is in a critical condition at his father's home.

The child, who is just 3 years old, was in a field near his home when the mule snapped up the infant and, holding the child's foot between its firm-set jaws, set off on a dead run to the woods beyond. Attracted by the screams of her baby, the mother, who was on the back porch of her residence, looked up only to see her little boy dangling in a helpless condition from the mouth of the mule as it raced over the newly-ploughed field.

Although an alarm was given immediately, it was several minutes before the father and others could be summoned. Grabbing large tobacco sticks, the father and his helpers forced the mule to release the almost lifeless form of the baby. The child was taken to its home, but doctors who were summoned hold out little hope for its recovery.

WANTS CHAIRMANSHIP OF STATE COMMITTEE

John M. Stevenson Announces —Is a Prominent and Working Democrat.

Louisville, Ky., April 27.—John M. Stevenson, of Winchester, while in Louisville to-day, issued the formal announcement of his candidacy for chairman of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee, to be decided at the coming State convention. He expressed the utmost confidence in his race, based on letters from all over the State assuring him of support.

Mr. Stevenson is one of the most prominent attorneys of the Winchester bar, and of Central Kentucky. For twenty years, or ever since he attained his majority, he has been prominent in Democratic councils. He is regarded as one of the ablest stump speakers in the State, and an orator of exceptional ability.

He has frequently been mentioned for Congress in the old Tenth district, but was always content to stand aside in the interest of others. He is the chairman of the Clark county Democratic Committee and was the manager in Clark county of Gov. James B. McCreary's campaign for United States Senator four years ago.

He is a native of Franklin county but was reared in Scott county, and has been a resident of Winchester for eleven years. Mr. Stevenson, who is thirty-nine years of age, is a son of the Rev. Thomas J. Stevenson, a prominent Baptist minister of Georgetown, and a son-in-law of Holly Witherspoon, Confederate veteran, a wealthy banker of Winchester, and one of the richest men in Central Kentucky.

FLOODS LEAVE UTTER RUIN IN THEIR WAKE

Tallulah, La., April 27.—Flood conditions in Northeast Louisiana are indescribable. The imagination can scarcely picture the scenes of desolation and destruction. The monetary loss resulting from the great crevasses in the west levees of the Mississippi, which have inundated large areas of eleven prosperous parishes, may total more than $15,000,000. It will be even more if the rains continue for a few weeks longer.

What Texans Admire
Is hearty, vigorous life, according to Hugh Tallman, of San Antonio. "We find," he writes, "that Dr. King's New Life Pills surely put new life and energy into a person. Wife and I believe they are the best made." Excellent for stomach, liver or kidney troubles, 25c at James H. Williams.

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, at its session in Pittsburgh, awarded medals, money and pensions to more than fifty for acts of bravery and heroism.

USES BIG STICK ON OLD FRIEND

Roosevelt Cudgels Taft Unmercifully.

"CROOKEDEST KIND OF DEAL"

Says Teddy of Taft's Attack On Him—Is "Disloyal to Decency."

PUTS TAFT IN ANANIAS CLUB

Worcester, Mass., April 26.—Merciless denunciation of President Taft was Col. Roosevelt's reply to the President's attack upon him yesterday. Some of Col. Roosevelt's assertions were:

That President Taft had not given the people of the country "a square deal," but that owing to a "quality of feebleness" he had "yielded to the bosses and the great privileged interests."

That one part of the President's attack upon him was "the crookedest kind of a deal" and "deliberate misrepresentation."

That the President "has not merely in thought, word and deed been disloyal to our past friendship but has been disloyal to every canon of ordinary decency and fair dealing, such as should obtain even in dealing with a man's bitterest opponents."

That the President's statement regarding the influence of Federal officeholders in the campaign was "not only an untruth, but it is an absurd untruth."

That Mr. Taft convicted himself of insincerity when he signed the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

That in speaking of Col. Roosevelt's position in regard to the trust problem, President Taft "is himself guilty of a crooked deal."

Said Col. Roosevelt:

"When President Taft, in any speech, speaks of me as a 'neurotic or demagogue,' he had better preserve his self-respect, by not protesting that it gives him pain. No man resorts to epithets if it really gives him pain. I never alluded to him even remotely in terms resembling these. I have never quoted his private letters. I have discussed only his public actions. I won't deviate from this."

"Taft says," he continued, "in my various campaigns I have accepted the assistance of bosses. So I did, when they chose to go my way and support the cause of the people. The trouble with President Taft is, he gets their assistance at the price of going their way and opposing the cause of the people."

Col. Roosevelt took up President Taft's attack on him point by point, flaying the President in one scathing sentence after another.

When Col. Roosevelt reached here at the beginning of his Massachusetts trip, he found the streets thronged. A band and a torchlight procession escorted him to Mechanics' Hall, where he delivered his main speech. Later he addressed an overflow meeting.

Mrs. Eliza Hall Dead.

Mrs. Eliza Hall, one of the most highly respected and beloved women of the Maceo neighborhood, died of infirmities incident to old age, at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of her son, Frank Whitworth, after an illness lasting for about six months.

She was well known and had many friends. The deceased is survived by three sons, Frank and Milton Whitworth, of Maceo, and Ed Hall, of Waltman, and three daughters, Mrs. George Baird, of Maceo; Mrs. Lula Brown, of Lewisport, and Mrs. Elizabeth Tucker, of Greensboro, N. C.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to those who were so kind and attentive to us during this illness and death of the wife and mother of our household. These friends will never be forgotten. Respectfully,
J. E. Curtis and Children,

BLUSH OF SHAME COVERS FACES

Of Prominent Republicans of Country.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT SCRAP

Has Just About Eliminated
Both from the Presidential Race.

PRIZE MAY GO TO OUTSIDER

Washington, April 27.—A feeling that the two greatest leaders of their party are disgracing United States politics in the eyes of the world, impressed Republican leaders at the Capitol to-day. On every hand was heard deprecation of the fact: First, that Theodore Roosevelt's injustice and brutal misrepresentation drove the President into personal conflict with him; second, that Roosevelt, in his reply, should have impeached the sincerity and honesty, not of William Howard Taft, but of the President of the United States.

Republicans stood about the congressional lobbies in groups to-day, sadly discussing the national condition of their party. "By the testimony of each other," remarked one conservative leader, "neither Taft nor Roosevelt is fit to be President. They have long known each other and they state, respectively, that the one is incompetent and feeble, the other dishonest and unjust. How can we ever win with either of them after this week's exhibition of mud-slinging. I cannot possibly see. It looks to me as if Justice Hughes would be conferring a favor on the people of the United States if he would permit the use of his name so that neither of these men, each of whom has impeached a President, may be the candidate of the Republican party."

"They are acting like two factional leaders in South America," said another Republican. "We can't afford to sneer at those dusky Presidents after this."

A third authorized the statement that Mr. Taft fears the result of his personal debate with Col. Roosevelt will be the thrusting aside of both of them by their party and the nomination of a third candidate. All the bitterest and most denunciatory portions of their speeches have been wired and cabled everywhere during the last few days; the English and continental papers have asked for full reports, and there is keen shame and regret in Washington that in all the other capitals of the world dignified foreign statesmen and rulers are learning new estimates of two Presidents of the United States.

Meanwhile the rival publicity bureaus here, encouraged by the attitude of their candidates, have smeared mud and vitriol over their mimeograph machines and by their joint output have in the last week convicted the Republican party of more crimes than the Democrats ever have charged against it. They have stigmatized its most powerful and sacred leaders as "hypocrites" and "crooks." Only yesterday Director W. B. McKinley, of the Taft headquarters, issued a statement charging that Col. Roosevelt took Steel Trust data in a moving van from the Bureau of Corporations, thrust it in the White House garret and let it die there two years ago, when every sentence on every document called out for a criminal proceeding against the trust and its heads. To-day Senator J. M. Dixon, head of the Roosevelt bureau, published a telegram sent Mr. McKinley by Cecil Lyon, of Texas, in which the Texan calls the Taft manager a "liar" three times and announces that he will "hold you personally responsible for any other lies."

In the interest of truth and the Democratic party, Senator Culbertson, of Texas, to-day succeeded in having reported favorably his resolution calling for an investigation of campaign contributions in 1904 and 1908. A favorable report already has been made on a resolution by Senator Bristow, inquiring into the use of Federal patronage during the present pre-convention campaign between the President and Col. Roosevelt. Mr. Culbertson, remembering how Secretary Cortelyou used to travel like a shuttlecock between Wall street and the Republican National Committee; how freely insurance companies contributed to the two Roosevelt campaigns affected, and how George W. Perkins showed his gratitude for Roosevelt in 1908, decided that such a resolution as he introduced might bring out the facts. If the Senate passes both resolutions, there probably will be developments that will shock the moral sense of the nation, and show just what scruples Theodore Roosevelt ever had about milking the corporations and granting them favors in return, and will not stop short of the grave of President McKinley in their revelations concerning the Republican party.

Mr. Bristow based his resolution on the use of patronage by Mr. Taft in North Carolina and Alabama; but Mr. Culbertson fared farther afield in the hope of developing the whole truth.

Besides these mudslinging battles between the most eminent Republicans in the land, the differences between Democrats have paled into lily-white purity.

"Why, we actually stigmatize a Democrat for telling a little bit of a lie," said Representative A. O. Stanley, wonderingly, to-day. "These Republicans apparently elect men President for the enormity of their crimes."

DESpondent, ENDS LIFE BY JUMPING INTO WELL

Had Served in Legislature and Was Doorkeeper of the Senate.

Despondent over his continued failure to obtain employment since the adjournment of the last session of the State Legislature, Joseph Franklin Richardson, formerly a prominent farmer of the Hirk City neighborhood, in Davless county, committed suicide at his home at Central City Friday by jumping into a well and drowning.

Mr. Richardson was a veteran of the war between the States, during which, while serving in the famous "Orphan Brigade" of the Confederate army, he suffered the loss of an arm. Mr. Richardson was Assessor of Davless county for several years, succeeding Tom Aull. At one time he represented Muhlenberg county in the Lower House of the State Legislature and at the last session of that body he was doorkeeper of the Senate. Since the adjournment of the Legislature he had been seeking an appointment as guard at the Eddyville penitentiary and when he recognized his failure to secure the appointment, he became bitterly despondent, which is attributed as the cause for his rash act.

He is survived by his wife and several children.

SUCCUMBS TO PARALYSIS AT HOME AT SPICE KNOB

John H. Moreland, a highly influential and respected farmer of the Spice Knob neighborhood, near Yelvington, Davless county, died of paralysis at 11:45 o'clock Friday morning, after an illness lasting for three years. Mr. Moreland was stricken with paralysis in December, 1909, while attending a banquet of the Rice E. Graves camp, and although his condition was not regarded as critical until several days ago, he was always confined to his rooms, as the result of the paralytic stroke.

Mr. Moreland was born in Shelby county, November 9, 1839, and at the time of his death was seventy-two years of age. He was the son of William and Nancy Moreland, who have been dead for a number of years. In 1861 Mr. Moreland enlisted in the Confederate army and was paroled at Charlottesville in 1865. He removed to Davless county in 1866, where he was married to Miss Marie Middle. April 2, 1867. To this union four children were born. He is survived by his widow and three children. One brother also survives.

Card of Thanks.

To the many friends and acquaintances who so kindly gave us their aid, comfort, and sympathy when recently death came to our home, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

CLARK GAINING AT EVERY TURN

Of the Political Wheel in Various States.

CHAMP CLARK WOMEN'S CLUBS

Being Organized in Colorado and California, Where the Women Vote.

OPINIONS OF SOME LEADERS

(Special Cor. of The Herald.)

Washington, April 27.—Speaker Champ Clark's lead in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination has reached such lengths that here in Washington politicians agree that he will be nominated, perhaps, on the first ballot. With 180 votes favorable or pledged, the Speaker has a clear lead over his nearest opponent of 125 votes.

The result of the primaries in Pennsylvania was exceedingly gratifying to the Speaker's manager, Hon. Fred T. Dubois. No campaign was made in the Keystone State for Clark delegates, but seventeen delegates who favor the Speaker's nomination were elected.

Speaker Clark will be one of four distinguished men to make an address at the unveiling of the statue of Father Carroll at Georgetown University in Washington, on May 4. Father Carroll was the first Catholic Archbishop of the United States, and founded the Georgetown University. The other speakers at the university will be the President of the United States Cardinal Gibbons, and Chief Justice White, of the United States Supreme Court.

Many Champ Clark Women's Clubs have been organized in California and Colorado. Interest among the women in these States in the Presidential contest is intense, and reports are that the number of women's votes will equal that of men. Hundreds of letters have been received at the Clark headquarters in Washington from women admirers of the Speaker, assuring their support.

California and Colorado are almost sure to elect Clark delegations to the Baltimore convention. In the first named State, reports are that Clark sentiment is sweeping the States and in Colorado the Speaker's strength is gaining steadily. Every county that has acted, with one exception, has elected Clark delegates to the State Convention.

The Speaker's name has gone upon the primary ballot in Maryland. Practically all of the Maryland members of the House are supporting Mr. Clark for the nomination, and all believe he will be nominated. Representative David J. Lewis, of Cumberland, said respecting Mr. Clark's candidacy:

"The Speaker will be nominated and elected. He will carry Maryland. I am for Speaker Clark because I believe he would make the strongest possible candidate the Democracy could name. I have learned to love him for his simplicity of character and his strength of mind. He is one of the greatest leaders the Democracy has ever had. He can unite the entire party, as he brought together the Democratic forces of the House. All elements would turn to him enthusiastically."

The Maine delegation to the Baltimore Convention will support Speaker Clark after the first ballot. This statement was made by one of the members of the House.

"The Speaker is unanimously the second choice of every member of the Maine delegation, and he will get all 12 votes after the first ballot," was the statement made by this member.

Christian Endeavor Meeting.

The State convention of the Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor will convene in Owensboro, Thursday evening, May 9, for a three-days' session. It is expected that there will be nearly 200 delegates in attendance, and an excellent meeting is promised.

American Consul Lefebvre secured the release of two Americans from a Mexican prison, confined, it is stated, without charges.

POURS HOT SHOT INTO ROOSEVELT

Does Taft, in a Speech at Springfield.

OPEN WARFARE IS DECLARED

President Says Colonel Has
"Misstated" and "Distorted" Many Facts.

STATES THE MATTER PLAINLY

Springfield, Mass., April 25.—President Taft made his answer here to-day to the criticisms that Col. Theodore Roosevelt has made of him and his administration. In a speech that bristled with indignation, in which he named Col. Roosevelt over and over again, Mr. Taft told a crowd that filled Springfield's public square how he believed Mr. Roosevelt had not given him a "square deal," and how he had "misstated" and "distorted" the facts concerning Mr. Taft's conduct and actions in the White House.

He replied in some detail to many of the charges that Col. Roosevelt has made against him since the present campaign began. He took pains to make plain Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge of and complete agreement with many of the actions and policies of the present Administration which lately he has condemned and denounced.

The President declared that after the Columbus speech of Col. Roosevelt, he found the country unresponsive, and he shifted his method of campaign from a declaration of "principles" and proposals of reform to a series of attacks upon the Administration.

Mr. Roosevelt's doctrine of the recall of Judges and the recall of decisions, his willingness to disregard the "wise custom" that forbids a third term, whether consecutive or not, his appeal to "class hatred and prejudice" and his "absolute failure" to put forth any concrete propositions for true reform and true progress, Mr. Taft said, all combined to make him believe that the American people should not choose Mr. Roosevelt to sit again in the White House.

Mr. Taft began his speech by declaring that he spoke plainly only because he believed it time for him to do so. He brought in Col. Roosevelt's name only because events had forced him to use it.

"In 1908, Theodore Roosevelt recommended to the people of the United States that I, then the Secretary of War, be nominated by the Republican party and be elected. He labored hard and long to bring this result about, and he succeeded. I have felt the deepest gratitude to him.

"Neither in thought nor word nor action have I been disloyal to the friendship I owe Theodore Roosevelt. When the time came for this campaign to begin I let the people know that I would like to have my administration approved by their giving me another term. At that time Theodore Roosevelt said he was not a candidate and that it would be a calamity if he were nominated. Since then he has changed his mind."

So far as he personally was concerned, the President said, he never would have attacked Col. Roosevelt nor had a quarrel with him. "So far," said he, "as personal ambition is concerned, so far as personal feeling is concerned, I would never answer his charges. But I cannot act for myself. I represent a cause, I represent an element of the Republican party that believes in constitutional government and its preservation; that believes in wise progress under the guarantees of the Constitution."

"By misstatements throughout the country, Mr. Roosevelt has led many people to believe charges made against me and my administration."

THIRTY-TWO TOWNS IN NEW COUNTY MCCRERY

There are thirty-two towns in McCreary county, the new county formed out of parts of Wayne, Pulaski and Whitley counties. The county seat will not be chosen until June. According to the R. G. Dun Co., of Louisville, the towns in the new county are as follows:

wood, Griffin, Hollyhill, Indian Head, Jellico Creek, Kidds Crossing, Lorena, March Creek, Nevelsville, Oz, Parkers Lake, Parmleysville, Pine Knot, Rock Creek, Sawyer, Silversville, Slavans, Stearns, Strunk, West Jellico, Worley, Yamacrow.

Seven of the towns in the foregoing list, Alpine, Barren Fork, Coolidge, Flat Rock, Greenwood, Indian Head, Nevelsville and Parkers Lake, were taken over from Pulaski county. Seventeen towns, namely, Angel, Ashton, Barthel, Creekmore, Cumberland Falls, Duckrun, Hollyhill, Jellico Creek, March Creek, Pine Knot, Sawyer, Silversville, Stearns, Strunk, West Jellico, Worley and Yamacrow, were added to McCreary county from Whitley county. From the county of Wayne seven towns were annexed, viz: Griffin, Kidds Crossing, Lorena, Oz, Parmleysville, Rock Creek and Slavans.

Old Man Killed Brother.
Houston, Miss., April 20.—Convicted of manslaughter for the killing of John Davis, his seventy-year-old brother, a year ago, Reuben Davis, 70 years old, a Confederate veteran, has been sentenced to serve six months in prison and pay a fine of $1,000. The killing was the result of a feud which had existed between the brothers for a number of years.

HARMON MEN GO OVER TO THE CLARK FACTION

Managers of Ohio's Governor Throw Up the Fight
In Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., April 25.—The managers of the Harmon campaign in Kentucky, according to the statement of a prominent member of the Fayette County Harmon Club, given out here to-day, have decided to make no further fight to secure the instructions of Kentucky for the Ohio candidate and will so notify the Harmon national organization. Harmon lieutenants in the State are reported to have recently held a conference with the Harmon national leaders and declared to them that in view of the fact that Speaker Champ Clark is a native son of Kentucky and that Missouri is an adjacent State, the same as Ohio, the preponderance of the political sentiment of the State is undoubtedly for Clark and that it would be both unwise and impolitic for Kentucky Democrats to continue to work for Harmon against a native son of the Commonwealth.

Other prominent Harmon leaders are said to share the same sentiment and from this it can be safely stated that further activity for Harmon in the light of the growth of the Clark boom will be suspended in Kentucky and most of the former supporters of the Ohio chief executive will go over to the Clark camp.

The Harmon club official quoted above stated that the Fayette County Harmon Club, which is one of the largest and most enthusiastic in the State, would by mutual consent be dissolved and the majority of its members would ally themselves with the Clark movement and work to secure county, district and State instructions for the distinguished Missourian.

Since the formation of the Champ Clark Club here about ten days ago the club has received many accessions, numbers of Woodrow Wilson adherents deserting the camp of the New Jersey aspirant and coming to the Clark camp. Now that the Harmon men have also fallen in line for Speaker Clark, he is practically assured of the instructions of Fayette county, his supporters here claim.

Nicholas All One Way.
Carlisle, Ky., April 25.—The Champ Clark sentiment continues to grow here and Democrats all over the county are joining the club started here one week ago. The leaders of the movement for the Speaker here report to-day that the membership of the club in one week has reached about 500 and is growing every day. The county seems overwhelmingly for Clark.

J. W. Jordan, a well known dentist of Hopkinsville, Ky., recently had an operation for his kidney trouble, but he says: "The first real relief I got was after taking Coley Kidney Pills. They eased the terrible pain in my back and accomplished more good than anything I had tried. I gladly recommend them." Sold by all dealers.

The Kentucky Republican convention being over, it is expected that nominations for many post-offices will be sent to the Senate.

AWFUL TALES OF ATROCITIES TOLD

By the American Refugees From Mexico.

FLEE TO THE UNITED STATES

Assassinations and Tortures
By Rebels Are of Common Occurrence.

NO EFFORTS TO HINDER DEEDS

Galveston, Tex., April 25.—Forty-seven passengers, all but one citizens of the United States, who arrived this morning from Vera Cruz on the steamer Texas, tell of alleged torture and assassination of Americans in the republic. All the refugees left their lands, homes, furniture and everything they possessed except enough money for passage and the clothes on their backs. Among the entire number there are only four or five trunks.

M. H. Ish tells of the murder of an American citizen named Wait. "Mr. Wait was a neighbor to me," said Mr. Ish. "He had sold several head of cattle and hidden the money. A band of desperadoes came to his hacienda and demanded money. Failing to get it, they deliberately beheaded him with their machetes, herded his cattle together and drove them off. There are many instances just like this."

"We lived in a little settlement where a colony of eleven American families had founded the town of San Juan. All of these eleven families left because we were afraid to remain longer, knowing we would all be killed or tortured. I am sixty-four years old. I went to Mexico one year ago, but I had $1,450 in land and improvements there, and to-day I have only this (showing his two hands) and the clothes on my back."

"Before leaving we filed our claims for damages with the American Consul in Mexico City."

John T. McGee, a wealthy planter, who went to Mexico two years ago, returned to America minus more than $20,000 and left behind land, cattle and live stock. Mr. McGee tells of cruelties practiced on an American woman now in the hospital at Mexico City.

"The bandits visited the home of Mr. Shay, one of my neighbors, about a week before I left the settlement," said Mr. McGee, "and demanded money and guns. He gave them about $12 and one gun, saying that was all he had on the place."

"The band then left, but returned to Shay's place and demanded more money and arms. Not being given the money and guns, they took Mrs. Shay, tied her down and began beating her feet."

"Mr. Shay and his son, to stop the torture, gave four guns and $800 in money to the desperadoes, who, after a final beating of the woman, left the place. Mrs. Shay was badly injured, and she had to be carried to the hospital at Mexico City, where it was found that nearly every bone in her feet had been broken. She is in a serious condition."

"What has been true of the Shay family has been likewise true of scores of other Americans, and by staying there, we took our lives in our hands. The bandits are everywhere. The Mexican Government is not able to quiet these bandits, and many Americans believe that the Madero forces so dislike the Americans that they would rather permit the brigandage than try to stop it. Whenever rurales are near the bandits disperse, but there is rarely a shot fired."

Practically every man on board the Texas had a like tale to tell of experiences there. Two men who rode horseback into Vera Cruz after abandoning everything they possessed except their horses and their guns, tell of meeting four armed bandits in a narrow pass en route.

"The only reason we are here," said one of the men, "is because we were lucky enough to beat them to it."

"Everywhere you go, except right in the largest cities, you will see deserted farms, houses burned, live stock stolen and in many instances being decayed and headless bodies of their owners are left lying about. The bandits are in such large numbers and so scattered over the interior that to resist them is useless. The Americans just have to give up everything to them when they come to the settlements, no matter how well armed they may be."

Barbuen, the place where the refugees say some of the alleged atrocities occurred, is in the State of Vera Cruz, thirteen miles northwest of Santa Lucrta. It is on the Vera Cruz and Isthmus railway, across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and listed as a railway and telegraph station.

Officers For New County.
Gov. McCreary is expected shortly to name the full complement of officers for the new county of McCreary, created by the last Legislature out of parts of Whitley, Wayne and Pulaski counties. R. A. Pope, a Democrat, who labored hard for the new county, is tipped for the first County Attorney, and John Bell for Sheriff. Former Representative W. B. Creekmore, Republican, of Whitley, who is now in the boundaries of the new county, may get the appointment of Jailer of McCreary county. He was one of the hardest workers to secure the establishment of the new county. It has been figured out that McCreary county will be entitled to two votes in a Democratic convention.

On Equal Grounds.
"How's your father?"
"He's well, thank you."
"How's your mother?"
"Oh, she's well, thank you."
"Then your mother's no better than your father?"
"No."
"That's what the neighbors say."

UNITED STATES COURT TO CONVENE ON MAY 6

At Owensboro With Rather Small Docket—New Ruling Of Judge Evans.

The United States Court will convene at Owensboro on Monday afternoon, May 6, at 1:30 o'clock. It has been the custom to open court on the first day at 9 o'clock in the morning, but Judge Evans says that he believes it much more convenient and suitable to all concerned, to commence court in the afternoon.

Another new rule is to have the grand and petit juries summoned for the second day of the court, as Judge Evans expects to consume the afternoon of the first day in hearing motions and to dispose of other matters that are to be considered during the term.

The docket is not as large as usual, and with the exception of a few criminal prosecutions, which will be quickly disposed of, it is likely that but one damage case will be tried. This is the case of S. V. Hunter, administrator, against the Illinois Central Railroad Company for damages for the killing of Hunter, and it is understood that the parties will be ready for trial at this term.

The night rider case of Elsie G. Latham against Dr. D. A. Amos and others and same against the city of Hopkinsville and others, probably will be continued, as no preparations have been made for a trial at this term.

The criminal docket is made up of the following cases: Baron Marshall, violating postal laws; J. C. Keats, retelling; Frank Dunbar, same offense; Jesse Schroeter, aiding in making counterfeit money; Frazee Hatfield, Esther Davis, Jim Lisle, Jim Phillips, Oakley Clark, Joseph Wolf, Dick Clark, C. S. Kibbe, Estill Goff, Ah. Lawrence, retelling liquor; James Bewley, App Robbins and Roy Kelly, violating postal laws.

The night rider case of C. C. Shemwell against John Chapman and others is set for this term but will be continued.

The equity cases of the Troy bank against G. A. Whitehead and company, and Stonewall Jackson against Forbes Manufacturing company are also set for trial at the May term.

Of Course.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jurgenson are the happy parents of a son, who arrived yesterday morning. Mr. Jurgenson, the father, of course, is employed as clerk in the lower Lake Erie yards.—[Michigan City Dispatch.]

GHASTLY SIGHTS VIEWED AT SEA

By Passenger on Board Steamer Bremen.

MANY BODIES SEEN FLOATING

In Vicinity Where Titanic Went Down—From the Liner's Rail.

PITIFUL SCENES PRESENTED

New York, April 26.—Over one hundred bodies of the Titanic dead were seen floating on the water by the steamship Bremen, which arrived here to-day from Bremen. The German liner on April 20 passed over the place where the Titanic went down.

From the bridge officers of the ship saw over a hundred bodies floating in the sea, a boat upside down, together with a number of small pieces of wood, steamer chairs and other wreckage. As the cable ship Mackay-Bennett was in sight, and having word that her mission was to look for bodies, no attempt was made by the Bremen's crew to pick up the corpses.

In the vicinity was seen an iceberg which answered the description of the one the Titanic struck. Smaller bergs were sighted the same day, but at some distance further from where the Titanic sank.

The officers of the Bremen did not care to talk about the tragic spectacle, but among the passengers several were found who gave accounts of the dismal panorama through which their ship steamed.

Mrs. Johanna Stunke, a first-class passenger, described the scene from the liner's rail. "It was between 4 and 5 o'clock Saturday," she said, "when our ship sighted off the bow to the starboard an iceberg. As we drew nearer and could make out small dots floating around in the sea, a feeling of awe and sadness crept over everyone on the ship."

"We passed within a hundred feet of the southernmost drift of the wreckage and looking down over the rail we distinctly saw a number of bodies so clearly that we could make out what they were wearing and whether they were men or women."

"We saw one woman in her nightdress with a baby clasped closely to her breast. Several women passengers screamed and left the rail in a fainting condition. There was another woman, fully dressed, with her arms tight around the body of a shaggy dog."

"The bodies of three men in a group, all clinging to one steamer chair, floated nearby, and just beyond them were a dozen bodies of men, all in life preservers, clinging together as though in a last desperate struggle for life. We couldn't see, but imagined that under them was some bit of wreckage to which they all clung when the ship went down."

NO CAUSE TO DOUBT

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee.

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Reflux Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Reflux Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction. Three sizes: 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents and 80 tablets 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Reflex Remedies in Hartford only at our store—The Rexall Store—James H. Williams, 214 Main street, Hartford, Ky.

down and which didn't have buoyancy enough to support them.

"Those were the only bodies we passed near enough to distinguish, but we could see the white life preservers of many more dotting the sea all the way to the leeward. The officers told us that was probably the berg hit by the Titanic, and that the bodies and ice had drifted along together."

Mrs. Stunke said a number of the passengers demanded that the Bremen stop and pick up the bodies, but the officers assured them they had just received a wireless message saying the cable ship Mackay-Bennett was only two hours away from the spot and was coming for that express purpose.

Other passengers corroborated Mrs. Stunke.

No Vacation.
The Business University of Bowling Green, Ky., has no vacation, no openings, no closings but, like Tenneyson's brook, it goes on forever.

The Result in Nebraska.
Lincoln, Neb., April 22.—Corrected tabulations of the Nebraska Presidential preference vote, including returns from 880 precincts, give Roosevelt, 31,342; Taft, 10,692; LaFollette, 10,279; Clark, 14,031; Harmon, 11,241, and Wilson, 9,860.

WILL COST THE STATE ABOUT $60,000-YEARLY

Says Governor of Confederate Pensions Law Not Complied With.

Frankfort, Ky., April 25.—So far, Pension Examiner W. J. Stone has received requests for nearly 4,000 blank applications for Confederate pensions under the act of the recent Legislature. This does not mean that 4,000 soldiers and widows have asked for the blanks, for attorneys in various counties have asked for as many as ten or fifteen blank applications, so they would have them on hand if a client should call.

Capt. Stone says many of the applicants have evidently failed to read the pension law, for they have failed to comply with a very necessary clause in the law. The law provides that when an ex-soldier or widow makes out the application for a pension, the application must be filed with the County Judge, and must lie over till the next regular term of County Court to give the County Judge and County Attorney time to investigate as to the time the applicant has resided in the county and his financial condition. A number of applicants have sent their applications to Capt. Stone without complying with this plain requirement and the applications have been sent back, as they are worthless without the indorsement of the County Judge, showing that the law has been complied with.

Gov. McCreary thinks the pension list will cost the State not over $60,000 a year to start with and will gradually grow less.

VERY SHARP REDUCE TO UNPRODUCTIVE WOMEN

In an article on "The Irresponsible Woman and the Friendless Child," in the May American Magazine, Ida M. Tarbell says:

"The heaviest burden to-day on productive America, aside from the burden imposed by a vicious industrial system, is that of its non-productive women. They are the most demanding portion of our society. They spend more money than any other group, are more insistent in their cry for amusement, are more resentful of interruptions of their pleasures and excitements, go to greater extremes of indolence and uneasiness."

"The really serious side to the existence of this parasitical group is that great numbers of other women, not free, forced to produce, accept their standards of life. We hear women, useful women, everywhere talking about the desirability of not being obliged to do anything, commiserating women who must work, commiserating those who have heavy household responsibilities, and by the whole gist of their words and acts, influencing those younger and less experienced than themselves to believe that happiness lies in irresponsible living."

A Flourishing School.

ICEBERG DANGER TO OCEAN SHIPS

In the North Atlantic is Ever Near.

FLOATING AROUND FOR YEARS

Before Drifting Across the Polar Basin Into the Warmer Waters.

VARIOUS SIGNS OF PRESENCE

Next to fog, icebergs are regarded as the source of greatest peril to vessels navigating the North Atlantic. According to all accounts brought by incoming ocean steamers, this menace has been greater during the last few weeks than in any recent years. The presence of a great number of icebergs in the lane of transatlantic traffic just now does not, however, necessarily indicate any extraordinary conditions in the arctic during the past winter. According to the most reliable estimate of scientists, it requires as a rule from three to four years for an iceberg to drift across the polar basin and reach that region of the Atlantic in which disaster overtook the White Star glimmer on her maiden voyage.

The greatest precautions are taken on board the big ocean liners to guard against collision with icebergs. Not only are the officers on the bridge and the lookout in the "crow's nest" impressed with the fact that they must exercise the greatest vigilance when vessels approach the Newfoundland Banks, where the danger from icebergs is the greatest at this time of the year, but the temperature of the water is taken frequently, and any striking drop indicated by the thermometer is certain to be accepted as a warning against the presence of icebergs in the vicinity.

This, and the lowering of the temperature of the air—if one should happen to pass to the leeward of an iceberg—are about the most reliable of all the danger signals set against this peril. To the eye, indeed, an iceberg is not easily perceptible at night, even though the weather should happen to be clear and the moon, perchance, abiding. Most of the icebergs have an intense white and bluish hue, which blends with moonlight in a fashion that may confound the most seasoned and vigilant of mariners.

In a report issued by the Hydrographic Office in April, 1909, the following signs are enumerated as indicating the proximity of ice: "Before the ice is seen from the deck the 'ice blink' will often indicate its presence. This is readily understood when it is known that it is caused by the reflection of the rays of light from the sun or moon. On a clear day over the ice on the horizon the sky will be much paler or lighter in color, and is easily distinguishable from that overhead, so that a sharp lookout should be had and changes in the color of the sky noted.

"On a clear day icebergs can be seen at a great distance owing to their brightness, and at night owing to their effulgence. During foggy weather they are seen through the fog by their apparent blackness, if such a term can be applied. "They also can be detected by the echo from the steam whistle or fog horn. This should be remembered, since by noting the time between the blast of the whistle and the reflected sound, the distance of the object in feet may be approximately found by multiplying with 550.

"The presence of icebergs is often made known by the noise of their breaking up and falling to pieces. The cracking of the ice or the falling of the pieces into the sea make a noise like breakers or a distant discharge of guns, which may often be heard at short distance.

"The absence of swell or wave motion in a fresh breeze is a sign that there is ice or land on the weather side.

"The appearance of herds of seals or flocks of birds far from land is an indication of the proximity of ice.

"The temperature of the air falls as ice is approached, especially on the leeward side; but generally only at an inconsiderable distance from it. The fall of the temperature of the sea water is sometimes a sign of proximity of ice, although in regions where there is an intermixture of cold and warm currents going on, as at the junction of the Labrador current and the Gulf Stream, the temperature of the sea has been known to rise as the ice approached."

UNBALANCED BY TITANIC DISASTER, KILLS EDITOR

Spokane, Wash., April 26.—C. E. Rothrock, city editor of the Spokane Chronicle, was shot and killed today in the Chronicle editorial rooms by Richard Aleck, a Russian laborer.

Aleck first told the police he had been on the Titanic and then that he had been on the Carpathia, and mumbled "there has been too much printed about the disaster." He would give no other reason for the crime.

Aleck walked quietly into the Chronicle local room and asked, for the editor. As Rothrock walked toward him, Aleck drew a revolver and shot him in the breast. Rothrock died within five minutes.

The murderer later told the police he was 43 years old and came to this country four years ago.

MAN BUILT.

Man built himself a hut in the forest. He wove its sides cunningly, and forced it with broad leaves, well laid on.

"Here," said Man, "I shall sleep in safety and in comfort and naught shall assail or trouble me."

A tree, grown weak with age, fell on the hut and crushed Man.

Man built himself a shelter on the plain, its walls close to keep out the wind, its top tight to shed the water.

"There are no trees to fall and crush me, here," said Man. "I shall dwell in peace."

The lightning fired the dry grass and Man was burned.

Man went to sea and reared a house on the skeleton of the earth. He made its supports of rock, its roof of slate.

"Now I am safe," said Man. "No tree nor fire can injure me now."

The earthquake came, and the house of stone tumbled down on the head of Man.

Man went to where a great river flowed and raised banks to hold back its flood. Nearby he put his house.

"I have ordered the course of the waters," said Man, "and now I shall live untroubled by them."

Soon came the flood and covered the place where he had lived and drove away Man.

Man piled for his use stone on stone, cunningly upheld by steel and mortar.

"Fire I can now defy," said Man. "It cannot harm me here."

The flames came and Man fled as they destroyed the work of his hand.

Man put steel to steel and wrought wisely a ship, strong, staunch and true. From the sky he took the lightning to guide its course and warn it of danger.

"In this my ship," said Man, "I shall pass over the waters as I will, and none that is in them may wound or injure me."

Came tide and current and ice and crushed the ship Man built.

Man stood on a mountain peak and saw a little of the World. He looked into the vault of heaven and his eyes saw uncounted other Worlds.

"I am the master of the whole universe," said Man.

The peak trembled and fell into the valley. In the forest at the foot of the mountain Man built him a hut.

THE WORKING OF WIRELESS

Telegraph System Briefly Explained.

HOW THE MESSAGES ARE SENT

Prof. Hertz Was Discoverer
Of System, But Marconi Gets Credit.

THE WAVES OF ELECTRICITY

Many correspondents are asking for a description of how a wireless telegraph works. The fact of such a system has been known to everybody for years, but the means by which messages are transmitted are not generally understood. It is impossible to go into details, but a few suggestions are offered which may satisfy those not inclined to deeper study.

As is known, light and heat move in waves whose lengths can be measured. Thus, the sun gives out in every direction light in a series of undulating waves, which may not only be measured, but deflected, polarized, and so on. Some idea of this may be gained from the well known fact that when a stone is thrown into a smooth pool of water, a series of circular waves extends in all directions. If any floating objects come within these waves, they are oscillated.

It was the lamented Prof. Hertz who discovered that electricity, like light and heat, also moves in waves which may be measured. Just precisely how these waves pass through the atmosphere is not wholly understood, but it is believed that they have some relation to the ether of space, which is omnipresent and which is believed to constitute all matter under different negative electrical conditions. In wireless telegraphy a series of Hertzian waves is set up by powerful electrical dynamos or batteries, and these are discharged from the top of a high mast or pole. These waves extend in all directions, and—unless their force is expended by distance—excite certain effects in the receivers of wireless telegraphy instruments within the zone, just as the waves disturb chips on a pond. Messages are sent and received somewhat on the plan of the ordinary Morse code by wire, in that electrical impulses are regulated so as to spell words according to a code.

In recent years many kinds of receivers have been used and the process is now simpler than formerly, but any successful transmission of waves depends a good deal on the state of the atmosphere, electrical storms being disadvantageous. Also when many wireless outfits are working in the same zone, much confusion results and often messages are transmitted with great difficulty and sometimes not at all. This may account for some of the delays and confusions of the last few days.

To Marconi belongs the credit of making a practical success of the discoveries of others, but to Hertz belongs the credit of making the system possible. [Philadelphia Inquirer.]

THE COUNTRY PRESS AND ITS VALUE TO HOUSEHOLD

The stream of domestic crimes and scandal with which the newspapers of the larger cities have been flooded recently, making them unfit reading for the home, has called attention rather sharply to the difference between the metropolitan sheet, the editors and reporters of which are unknown to a great majority of their readers, and the country weekly, with which the personality of its editor is inseparable in the minds of his patrons.

The country weekly is above all a clean sheet, fit to be treated like a member of the household, and is edited with a view of printing the news which its readers desire to read and of eliminating much which is not fit to spread before people who desire a mental feast that can be digested with a clear conscience.

The city dailies attempt to justify their course by the claim that they are printing the stuff which the people want. No doubt there is a large number in every urban center to whom crime and scandal appeal, and it is this delectable class that the metropolitan sheet seeks to please and attract. The country readers, to their credit, would be better pleased if much of the fifth is eliminated from the daily visitor. News can be given in a clean way, though of ill smelling origin. Many salacious details can be cut out if a clean paper is desired by the editor.

The country editor not only edits out much objectionable matter, but suppresses reports of misdeeds which would cause innocent people distress. He does this out of consideration for the people whom he knows and because no good purpose could be served by the publication of the objectionable reports. His favors are extended to the rich and poor alike, often without apparent appreciation. Indeed, the complimentary expressions which he prints relative to his readers are seldom heard of by the newspaper man, though he is just humbled enough to crave thankfulness, like other people; but let him make a slip and say something which arouses resentment, even though innocently, and he is made to wish himself in some other occupation.

The country press is no small contribution to the clean current literature of the nation, and local papers deserve the subscription and support of every household. [American Press.]

TEXAS.

"Gentlemen," said the man from Texas, as he warmed to his subject, "are you aware of the fact that Texas is bigger than Germany, with Holland, Belgium and Switzerland thrown in for good measure? We have counties in Texas where such countries as Denmark and Portugal could be set down without touching the edge anywhere. Texas is bigger than New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, New Jersey, all the New England States and Ohio combined. If Norway and Sweden could be bunched with England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, they wouldn't be enough bigger than Texas to enable anybody to notice it. Texas could accommodate the entire population of the United States and be less crowded than Connecticut is today. Texas is big—big in many ways. Texas raises the biggest sweet potatoes, the biggest onions and the biggest steers in the world. Texas has more red-headed widows than any other State in the Union. Texas is located on the biggest gulf that has ever done anything to make itself worthy of mention. Texas has the biggest prairie in existence and the longest wire fences that the eye of man has ever gazed upon. If there are any other important facts concerning Texas that I have not mentioned, I will be glad to answer any questions that you may care to ask."

"What do the people of Texas do when they are not boasting about the greatness of Texas?" asked a timid little man at the rear end of the hall.

FOR AN INSTRUCTED DELEGATION.

There are a few newspapers in Kentucky whose editors claim to speak for the great mass of the Democratic party in the State, who are in favor of sending an un-instructed delegation to the Baltimore Convention.

The Herald does not set itself up as the mentor of its party in the State, nor yet as the director of political affairs in its own county, but from the opinions we have heard expressed on the matter and after an experience of more than 25 years from an editorial and political viewpoint, we do not think it would be either advisable or expedient to send such a meaningless delegation to Baltimore. An un-instructed delegation generally embodies an air of suspicion, to say the least. The mere fact that it is not committed to anything or anybody, gives the impression that it is open to jugglery and trade, the operations of which would in no wise express the sentiments of the constituents or voters left behind. It would look too much like capitulation to machine rule.

Kentuckians, as a class, are rather positive, both in opinion and action. They despise doubtful methods of any kind. They prefer to stand out in the open and express their sentiments in a way that is neither ambiguous nor misleading. The voters are quite well informed in political matters just now. They know who are the candidates in each of the leading political parties, and no doubt, most of them have either formed or expressed an opinion of their choice.

One of the most sacred rights of the American citizen is his privilege of suffrage. Next to that, in a political way, is his personal choice of a candidate as expressed through the properly constituted party authority. Few there be who do not accede to the will of the majority in party affairs, but the loyal and zealous party man first wants to have a say-so in the matter. That is his right in the premises and he deserves to have that right recognized to its ultimate expression.

Kentucky Democrats have nothing to fear in naming their choice for President. The convention at Louisville on the 29th of this month should enunciate a principle and also, taking the various expressions of the counties in delegate vote as a basis, let the world know whom the Democrats of Kentucky prefer to see occupy the Presidential chair after the fourth of next March. The delegates to Baltimore should go with a definite mission in their hands.

This is business, and it is also good politics. Then, if another man is nominated, all well and good, and we do not believe any loyal Kentucky Democrat will withhold his support. We cannot conceive that there is any other contingency than this very open and fair one. It is the essence of pure Democracy—the expression of the will of the people. The action of the different counties in their selection and instruction of delegates will control the matter, and we hope to see every county in the State—Ohio especially—speak out in its choice for President.

Whoever develops the most strength in the State Convention, whether Clark, Wilson, Underwood or Harmon, is entitled to the twenty-six votes of Kentucky, and it should be so recorded.

People had come to highly regard Mr. Marconi—who by-the-way, commercialized but did not discover wireless telegraphy—until Congressional investigation laid bare the fact, by his own lips, that he gave over the privilege of transmitting particulars of the Titanic horror to the wireless operator aboard the Carpathia, thereby permitting the latter to convert said privilege into a graft, at the option of the newspapers of this country. It will be remembered that our President himself could get no answer from the Carpathia's operator, evidently because the latter was holding his information for a big cash bonus. Such cold-blooded handling of a life-and-death matter is receiving the condemnation by people and news everywhere.

Burning under the repeated attacks of Col. Mc... in recent speeches, President... has cast aside his assumed policy of avoiding personalities and his later speeches reek with denunciation of his predecessor in office, whom he accuses of insincerity and misrepresentation. "Mr. Roosevelt ought not be selected the candidate of any party," says President Taft, evidently anticipating a bolt at the Chicago Convention. The Taft-Roosevelt embroglio is without parallel in the history of the Republican party.

A few self-appointed guardians of the Democratic party in Kentucky seem to have the matter all cut and dried as to how party affairs shall be conducted within the next few weeks or months, regardless of the wishes of the voters. Their first movement is to have the delegates go uninstructed to Baltimore. This smacks too much of machine rule and gives no consideration to any man's choice for President. A man would have little use for his privilege of voting if he is not allowed to say whom he prefers as ruler of this great nation. Let the voters be heard.

The spectacle of a President and an ex-President, the latter only a few years removed from the Presidential chair and both members of the same political party, going about the country bitterly denouncing each other in public speeches, is one which is as rare as it is disgusting. There seems to be nothing too hard or incriminating that Roosevelt and Taft can say of each other. It is up to self-respecting Republicans to either hold their noses and ears and remain aloof or take their choice between these two political belligerents.

What's the use of holding a county convention, a State convention or any kind of convention for Democrats this year, if Kentucky is to send an un-instructed delegation to Baltimore? What is a State Convention just before a National Convention usually for, anyhow? Suppose a majority of the States went uninstructed, what would be the result? Wouldn't that be a fine mess to untangle, and where would the voice of the voters come in?

A perusal of the "literature" being sent out daily by press agents of both Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt reveals that these candidates for the honor of leading their party are making a lot of noise and kicking up a heap of dust about almost everything except the one matter that is going to be the real issue of the coming campaign—namely, the tariff.

The Democrats of Ohio county should remember that Saturday, the 25th of this month, is convention day here at Hartford and they should be on hand in large numbers. A strong and representative delegation should be sent from here to Louisville, with their choice for President plainly stated. This latter feature should in no wise be neglected or omitted.

It is rather a hard matter these days for an old-line Republican to make a choice between the leading candidates of his party for President. Neither Taft or Roosevelt have much in common with former popular Republican principles.

Anent the Titanic horror, the New York World calls attention to the fact that about 3,000 workmen are killed every year in American mining industries, and no great disturbance is raised over the matter.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft declare that it is their personal opinion that neither should sit again in the White House. It is developing that a majority of the people of the United States seem to agree with them.

"Mother's Day" is set for the 12th of this month, and it should have proper observance. It seems nobody has thought enough of "father" to set apart a day for him, leaving the old man to just be glad he's living.

That Vice President job seems to be still going a-begging on "both

LET THE VOTERS HAVE A CHANCE

To Speak Their Choice, Says Ollie James.

AN INSTRUCTED DELEGATION

Is Urged—Is for Clark, But Says Let the Voters
Be Heard.

HIS RINGING DECLARATION

Washington, April 27.—"Some gentlemen in Kentucky may have large vest pockets, but I do not think their pockets are quite large enough to hold 250,000 Democrats."

This is the keynote of Representative Ollie James' unremitting fight against those who seek to take an un-instructed delegation from Kentucky to the Baltimore convention. He uttered it to-day in the course of a vigorous denunciation of the un-instructed delegation.

"I am perfectly content," said Mr. James significantly, "to trust the Democratic voters of Kentucky, and I am utterly unwilling to trust a small number of plebeians who will be almost as busy hunting jobs for themselves as they will be in selecting a candidate who is the choice of the Democratic party for President."

Mr. James returned to the Capital from Kentucky to-day and said that he is positive the State will send a Champ Clark delegation to Baltimore. He added that ten days before the convention he will go to Kentucky again to remain over the convention date. The Senator-elect has his fighting clothes on to the last jot and buckle.

His statement in full follows: "I fought last year for the right of the Democracy of Kentucky to instruct their representatives in the Legislature as to their choice for Senator. I am fighting now, just as then, for the right of the Democrats of Kentucky to instruct their delegates to the National Democratic Convention as to their choice sides of the house." Good job, too, and sometimes leads to other important things.

Some Cornell students have organized to "reconstruct religious thought." It will be rather hard, however, to beat the old-fashioned Word.

Those two Republican candidates for President are making so much fuss talking about each other that you can hardly hear anything else nowadays.

What's to hinder a Clean-up Day for Hartford in which every citizen should join?

Gee! Just see how Taft is kicking Teddy's boom around!

E. E. BIRKHEAD APPOINTED MASTER COMMISSIONER

Judge T. F. Birkhead on winding up the business of the April term of his court last Friday, appointed his nephew, Mr. E. E. Birkhead, as Master Commissioner and Receiver of the Ohio Circuit Court in the place of F. L. Felix, resigned.

Mr. Birkhead is an excellent gentleman and will no doubt make an efficient officer. Mr. Felix will wind up all the old business.

SPINAL COLUMN OPENED— NERVE FIBRES REMOVED

Philadelphia, April 29.—Opening the spinal column of a man afflicted with a dangerous stomach ailment and removing the nerve fibres that had succumbed to the disease, an operation which is believed to be the most delicate ever attempted, has been successfully performed by Dr. Charles H. Frazier, Dean of the Medical School of the University Hospital. As soon as the diseased nerve had been removed from the spine, the stomach trouble immediately ceased, and the patient began to regain strength.

Fearful Flood Conditions.
New Orleans, April 28.—From the mouth of Red river, down, the Government engineers are preparing for the hardest fight in the Mississippi river's history against flood. The rise is general below Red river, through which the water from the crevasses above is returning to the big river. The weak places are bolstered up or are in process of being strengthened, and the belief is that they will hold.

Tonic— Alterative

What is a "tonic"? A medicine that increases the strength or the tone of the whole system. What is an "alterative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Name the best "tonic and alterative"? Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Ask your doctor about it.

Bilious attacks, sick-headaches, indigestion, constipation, dizzy spells—these are some of the results of an inactive liver. Ask your doctor if he endorses Ayer's Pills in these cases. The dose is small, one pill at bedtime.

Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

for President. I opposed last year an un-instructed Legislature, so I am opposing this year an un-instructed delegation to the National Democratic Convention. I think the Democracy of Kentucky just as wise this year as they were last year, just as qualified to select their candidates, to express their choice, as any small ring of politicians could possibly guess as to whom they desire. Some gentlemen in Kentucky may have large vest pockets, but I do not think their pockets are quite large enough to hold 250,000 Democrats. I favor the people's rule. I am opposed to boss rule. I am perfectly content to trust the Democratic voters of Kentucky, and I am utterly unwilling to trust a small number of plebeians, who will be almost as busy hunting jobs for themselves, as they will be in selecting a candidate who is the choice of the Democratic party for President.

"I think I am well within the bounds of reason and truth when I say the Democrats of Kentucky are five to one for Speaker Champ Clark. I want them to say so in their county conventions. I want them to instruct their county delegations to vote for him, and to vote to instruct delegates to the National Convention to carry out their will. The strength he has shown makes it certain in my judgment that he will be our nominee. His record as minority leader, gave us a Democratic Congress. His record in a Democratic Congress is the platform upon which we must win the Presidency. Why not select the candidate who made it possible, yes, certain, that we should have a great national Democratic victory? For Kentucky to turn upon Champ Clark now, when he is one of us, and within easy reach of the greatest office in the Republic, would be like a mother turning upon her children.

"I want the gentlemen who advocate the masked delegation to uncover their candidate, take off their masks, tell us from whence their candidate hails, how reactionary he is; trot him out in the open. No dark lantern methods in my judgment will be permitted when the great untainted Democracy of Kentucky assembles in State convention, and I very much mistake the temper and good judgment and the unwavering loyalty of our Democratic voters if they do not instruct their delegates for Champ Clark for President; but, whoever they are for, if not my choice, I shall regret it, let them say who their choice is. This is their party. They make it great, and have a right to direct its affairs and select its nominees."

BABY BORN IN "SMOKER" OF PASSENGER TRAIN

Catlettsburg, Ky., April 27.—Mrs. Z. E. Collins gave birth to a boy babe in the smoking compartment of an Ohio and Big Sandy train this afternoon while she and her husband were enroute from Paintsville to Huntington, W. Va. The youngster was christened Tucker McNeely Collins, in honor of the brakeman.

The mother carried the child from the local depot to the street car line wrapped in her apron.

Isam Lee Dead.

Mr. Isam Lee died at his home near Sulphur Springs last Wednesday morning, April 24th, about 1 o'clock, of malarial fever and complications. After funeral services conducted by Rev. Crowe, Wednesday at 4 o'clock p. m., his remains were interred in the Mt. Vernon church cemetery.

Mr. Lee, who was a well known and highly respected citizen, leaves a widow and five children—four boys, Robt. E., J. L., W. O. and C. A. Lee, and a daughter, Mrs. L. G. Weller. The deceased, who was 64 years old, had been spending several months in the Sunny South among his relatives and friends of his boyhood days, whom he had not visited or seen since the Civil War closed. He returned home on the 17th of April a sick man and gradually grew worse until the end, a week later.

Via Dynamite.

Sandyville, O., April 26.—Wesley Olmstead, 38 years old, to-day placed a stick of dynamite in his mouth and touched a lighted match to it. His head was blown away, a hole two feet square was made in the floor and the room was partly demolished.

Lying on a bed two feet from where Olmstead committed the act was his seven-months' old baby. The infant was but slightly injured.

Gov. Eugene Foss, of Massachusetts, has declined to allow his name to be used as a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in Rhode Island.

A letter from the Colt Lyceum Bureau of Cleveland, O., which has been furnishing the entertainments composing the Hartford College Ly-manager of the latter, says that the reason the entertainers did not appear at Hartford last Friday night was because Mrs. Cox, one of the members of the troupe, was very ill. This is the second time this same troupe has disappointed our people. Mr. Colt says he feels very much mortified at this occurrence and is willing to do anything to mend matters. The affair will probably be adjusted soon and another entertainment—the last of the series of six—given at an early date. These entertainments have been very enjoyable.

IMPORTANT MEETING
OF BOYS' CORN CLUB

At Hartford on Next Saturday
Forenoon—Other People
Also Invited.

Prof. Henry Leach has received the following letter in regard to the meeting of the Boys' Corn Club of Ohio county, which he has been instrumental in organizing. The membership now numbers 283 boys earned in the laudable enterprise of making several ears of excellent corn grow where possibly only one
"nubbler" grew before. Prof.
Mutchler, the writer of the letter, is one of the most noted agricultural experts in the country. He is well known here, having conducted the Teachers' Institute last year.

Pursuant to the suggestion in the letter, Prof. Leach has set the time of the meeting for next Saturday morning, beginning at 10 o'clock. Not only the boys, but everybody interested in agricultural pursuits is invited to be present.
The meeting will be in the court house at Hartford. Every boy member should be present, as he will get valuable information. Prof.
Mutchler's letter is as follows:

Howling Green, Ky., Apr. 27.—
Mr. Henry Leach, Hartford, Ky.
My Dear Mr. Leach:—Your letter of the 26th is received, in which you state that you are calling your boys together for a meeting on Saturday, May 4th.

I shall take great pleasure in boing with you and getting the thing started with a whoop. If you have not already set the hour for your meeting, I would be glad if you would put it in the forenoon so that I can get an afternoon train out of Beaver Dam for home; otherwise, it would keep me out so long. I shall come to Central City Friday night, and go from there to Beaver Dam in the early morning, and get over to Hartford in due time.

Please let me know the hour of your meeting and approximately the number of people, because I want to bring some bulletins along for them.
Very truly yours,
FRED MITCHLER.

FIN OF HARRY K. THAW

New Rochelle, N. Y., April 27.—
Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford
White, appeared to-day before Justice Keogh in another effort to be freed from Matteawan, where he has been confined for more than four years. The appearance was on a writ of habeas corpus.
To-day's hearing was brief. Clarence J. Shoran, Thaw's attorney, stated that Thaw was not insane, and that the law could not be a public menace. It was agreed among counsel in the case that the matter would be taken to the Justice's convenience, and the case was accordingly set for May 6 at White Plains.

It was the first time in three years that Thaw has been out of the confines of Matteawan.

SCHOOLHOUSE LIFTED
WITH CHILDREN IN IT

Broken Bow, Neb., April 26.—A cyclone, which swept through this county to-day, picked up a brick country schoolhouse, in which were 12 children and the teacher, carried it half a mile and dropped it on the ground without injuring a child.
Miss Clara Mills, the teacher, was seriously injured.

The cyclone came along just as the Algonquin school was being dismissed. The children ran back into the building for protection. For the frame school had wrapped itself around the building, lifted it into the air, and, without turning it around, carried it across fields, cas-tures and two small streams and placed it in a wheat field.

The schoolhouse is so far from the original site that it cannot be moved back to its place.

Robinson's Circus, filed a petition in bankruptcy Thursday at Chelms-

A DECALOGUE FOR THE WIVES

Only, After Order of Ten Commandments.

IOWA PASTOR HANDS IT OUT

Straight from the Shoulder
With Some Very Good
"Suggestions."

MAXIMS WORTH REMEMBERING

"The Ten Commandments for Iowa Church Women," as gotten up by the Rev. Marion Simms, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Vin-ton, are being discussed in every church circle in the State. The Ladies' Society, in behalf of the churches of Iowa, is talking of holding indignation meetings. The commandments are, however, received with the greatest enthusiasm by the men's clubs of the different churches.

The commandments were promulgated by Dr. Simms in connection with a series of sermons on "Domestic Troubles," in which he catalogued and defined the troubles which may overtake a husband and wife and cause a break of the matrimonial bond. At the end of a sermon addressed primarily to the women of his congregation, Dr. Simms summed up his advice in the following ten paragraphs, which have been dubbed "Ten Commandments for Iowa Church Women:"

"1. Thou shalt have no other man but thy husband, and when another would make love to thee, remember that he is a fool or a knave.

"2. Thou shalt not forget that the same winsome ways that made thy husband prefer thee to all other women are necessary to hold him. Verily, verily, I say unto you, rats are as valuable in married life as in courtship.

"3. Thou shalt not expect thy husband in beginning his life to support you on the same plane that thy father was able to reach after a long life of hard work and rigid economy. Therefore thou shalt not fret thyself because thy neighbor's house is finer than thine own; neither shalt thou burden thy husband to enable thee to pose as a merchant's and a milliner's model. Thou shalt be a helpmate and not simply a help-eat; for verily, verily, I say unto you that it is wicked to keep thy husband only about two steps ahead of the bill collector. Neither shalt thou wear abbreviated garments that make women look too short and alien too long.

"Thou shalt not place thy social circle due, pleasurable organization, or even the Missionary Society, before thy home, and thou shalt not conclude that an ideal family is a husband, a bull pup and a canary.

"Thou shalt seek first to be a good homemaker, housekeeper and cook, and then thou must add any other accomplishments that do not interfere with thy chief business in life. Thou must not forget that an uncooked apple drove the first husband from Paradise; that a poor mess of pottage differentiated a nation; that a fit of indigestion lost the battle of Lepse, and that tea, mixed with improper ingredients, cost England the American colonies and led to the founding of the American Republic. And thou shalt not waste $5 worth of time hunting for a $10 dress at $9.78 on bargain day, and compel thy husband to lunch downtown on buttermilk and sinkers. Verily, verily, I saw unto you that it is better to be a good cook than to be able to play chords on the piano, to serve pink tea, preside at whist parties, or to be queen of bargain hunters.

"Thou shalt not gossip, in the family or out of it, about thy neighborhood scandal; neither shalt thou allow the petty vexations of the family to disrupt the family harmony.

"7. Thou shalt not complain that thou art 'tied down' to thy home and to thy babies, for verily, verily, I say unto you that a woman who is unwilling to be 'tied down' to such is not worthy to be married to any man. Thou shalt remember that no woman is 'tied down' more to her chief business in life than is her husband. Thou shouldst also not intend that woman's married life should be one prolonged pleasure excursion in a rubber-tired automobile on an asphalt road with magnolias blooming on either side.

"8. Thou shalt not aspire to be a man, to run the politics of the country, to reform the world, to boss thy husband, and then expect the courtesy, the love and devotion that is due an uncrowned queen. Verily, verily, I say unto you that men admire most the woman of the elingling variety.

"9. Thou shalt not serve punch to thy guests, nor put up prizes at whist parties, nor win them at thy neighbor's, and then lecture thy husband and sons on the evils of gambling.

"10. Thou shalt not allow dust to gather on the Bible, nor shall thy attendance at the services of thy church depend on the emotions of a passing hour, the state of the weather or any other unimportant matter."—[Concluded] Bluffs (Iowa) Cor. New York World.

"MOTHER'S DAY" IS SET
FOR SUNDAY, MAY THE 12th

In an article in the May Woman's Home Companion entitled "To Celebrate Mother's Day," Margaret E. Sangster states the facts of the celebration as follows:

"The second Sunday in May has in recent years had the distinction of being 'Mothers' Day.' Services in honor of the mother, and in recognition of her faithfulness, gentleness, and devotion to the home, are held in many of the churches and in most of the Sunday Schools. The white carnation has been selected as the flower to be worn on the corsage belt, or coat lapel on Mothers' Day. No flower of the garden or field could be a happier choice than this, to be worn as Mother's own flower. Pure as the drifted snow, spicy and fragrant, and possessing a lasting quality beyond that of lily or rose, the white carnation stands for all that Mother is to the family and the race."

An Old, Old Practice.
A little fellow who had just felt the hard side of a slipper turned to his mother for consolation.

"Mother," he asked, "did grandpa thrash father when he was a little boy?"

"Yes," answered his mother impressively.

"And did his father thrash him when he was little?"

"Yes."

"And did his father thrash him?"

"Yes."

"Well, who started this thing, anyway?"

A REAL HERO IS FOUND IN ONE OF SHIP'S CREW

Washington, April 26.—Harold G. Lowe, fifth officer of the sunken Titanic, to-day told the Senate investigating Committee his part in the struggle of the survivors for life following the catastrophe. His testimony developed that, with a volunteer crew, he rescued four men from the water, saved a sinking collapsible lifeboat by towing it astern of his and took off twenty men and one woman from the bottom of an overturned boat. Every one of those under his charge landed safely on the Carpathia.

From first to last Lowe's story showed that he played the man. Ordered away in charge of lifeboat No. 14, he packed it to its capacity on the top deck and, fearing that some might attempt to jump into it while it was descending, kept up a fusillade from his revolver. Once afloat, he took charge of a flotilla of small craft, which eventually were picked up by the rescue ship without the loss of a life.

The Last Resort.

A farmer whose son was an applicant for a position under the Government, but had been repeatedly turned down, said: "Well, it's hard luck, but John has missed that civil service examination again. It looks like they jest won't have him!" "What was the trouble?" "Well, he wuz short on spellin' an' geography, and missed purty fur in mathematics." "What is he going to do about it?" "I duuno. Times is mighty hard, an' I reckon he'll have ter go back ter teachin' school for a livin'!"

John B. Staton, Joyce, Ky., had an exceptionally severe attack of whooping cough. He says: "If it had not been for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I would have been compelled to quit work. Instead, I never missed a day, and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gave me instant relief and is the only cough medicine we ever use." Contains no opiates. Sold by all dealers.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR BACKACHE, KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

POEMS YOU'LL ENJOY.
The Herald's Special Selections.
OUT OF THE DEEP.

The gray beast of the north withdraws his fangs.

The stars peer through the fog.
The crouching sea

Creeps o'er the deck, a chilling, misty pall.

But still she lives. . . .
The boats are gone. But one hope there remains.

The weak are launched, save for that sliatly few

Who linger where love binds e'en unto death.

The weak are safe and strong, unhindered arms

May seize upon a straw and be dis-

gorged
From out the vortex of her last, long plunge.

How slow the minutes pass when all's prepared.

Ready's the grave, three thousand fathoms deep:

Ready the mourners circled on the sea,

And love bids Life farewell

athwart the gloom.
On the last strand of an uncertain

thread,
The stout heart sickens an eternal hour,

In silence pregnant with the soul-

wrung prayer:
"End our suspense! Be merciful!

Be swift!"
How slow the minutes pass. . . .

Ah, who shall say, for who shall ever know,

How moved that hour for those to death addressed?

The coward nerves himself, shamed

by the brave,
Yet weep the brave in stronger

sympathy:
For each his naked brother sees at last.

Poor Dives, leaning by yon polished rail,

Turns eyes to Lazarus, as poor as he;

And yon straight soldier, envoy

unto Kings Squares his strong shoulders and salutes his God!

Was that a cheer? A hymn? Or some old song,

Rousing tradition's call in every heart?

And that deep voice which rises

o'er the snarl
Of wind and water, grinding berg

and floe—
Does it appeal to Jove, who hath decreed?

Or, head erect, adjure all die like men?

And do the moving lips in this white face Whisper: "We wait! But turn

thy pity, Lord,
To such as, living, died with us

each day."
Now deeper sinks the sea-queen's nightly head.

Her red heart, sea-choked, gushes

scalding mist.
Her body shudders, and her thousand eyes

Are one by one eclipsed, 'till, with a sob,

A submerged gulp whose horror

stabs the night,
Her crowded taffrail leaps upward

toward the stars,
As holding up her sacrifice to Heav'n.

Night draws her veil. The wind

along the waves
Chants "Requiescat!"

Helps a Judge in Bad Fix.

Justice Eli Cherry, of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad sore on his leg had baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was completely cured." Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. 25 cents at James H. Williams.

Mrs. Whitehouse, in company when she accidentally got too near the burning fire and in a moment

her hands, while Mrs. Whitehouse's sister was painfully burned on her

HISTORY OF THE GREEK CHURCH

Going Back Nearly Nine Hundred Years.

"PROCESSION OF HOLY SPIRIT"

And Discussion of It Caused Thousands of Deaths in Early Centuries.

GREAT RELIGIOUS UPHEAVAL

Eight hundred and fifty-eight years ago—March 19, 1054—the Legates of Pope Leo IX. laid on the altar of St. Sophia, at Constantinople, the sentence of ex-communication against the Patriarch Caerularius, which split Christendom in twain and resulted in the permanent establishment of the Greek Church.

The trouble which culminated at the altar of St. Sophia had been brewing for centuries. It began away back in the fifth century in the organic differences between the Greek and Latin intellects. The Greek was by nature a disputant, while the Latin, less inclined to mental insurgency, was practical, and by natural bias, a believer in authority and discipline.

At an early date the church doctors began discussing the question of the "Procession of the Holy Spirit," and in the course of the arguments pro and con the hottest passion was engendered and innumerable feuds resulted. In settling the matter of the "Filioque" thousands of people were killed. For 500 years, indeed, the battle raged between those who maintained that the "Holy Spirit proceeded from the Father alone," and the others, who as stoutly held that the "Holy Spirit proceeded from the Father and the Son." The Western, or Roman Church, held the latter view, the Eastern, or Greek Church, the former.

Harmony appeared to be out of the question; there were separations and reunions, quarrels and armistices, until finally the great schism of 1054 came, which resulted in the split between the Eastern and Western wings of the Church, a split that has already lasted for almost a thousand years, and that shows no particular signs of being bridged over in the future.

The Greeks "converted" the Russians, and as Russia grew she naturally became the patron and political support of the Greek Church. In the meantime the Turks captured Constantinople and ended the Eastern Empire, but one by one the little principalities on the northern borders of Turkey broke away from her and gradually became independent; so, along with Russia and Greece there are now Bulgaria, Servia, Roumania, etc., whose people are largely of the faith of the Greek Church.

In the Greek Church, communicants receive both the bread and the wine; the bishops must be unmarried, and priests are not permitted to marry a second time. The liturgy and the service generally are either in the ancient Greek or old Slavonic.

The membership of the Greek Church is, in round numbers, 100,000,000—$7,000,000 in Russia and 13,000,000 in Greece, Roumania, Servia, Bulgaria and the Ottoman empire.—[Rev. Thomas B. Gregory in Chicago Examiner.]

Escapes An Awful Fate.

A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox, of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful fate. "Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," she writes. "Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick and safe, it's the most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at J. H. Williams. m

The May Woman's Home Companion.

The May Woman's Home Companion contains a most interesting account of the recent dramatization and staging of Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women." It is quite a remarkable story—how Miss Alcott's heirs have objected for years to putting the story on the stage, but how at last they have consented. Among the other articles in the number are the following: "Seeing Europe on $3.50 a Day," "A Mother's Account of the Effect of the Boy Scout Movement on Her son,"

"Women Writers as Humorists," "How to Attract Birds" and the first of a new series on the American Girl, by J. Nilsen Laurvik.

On the fiction side, the leading contributions are from Kathleen Norris, Susan Glaspell, Annie Hamilton Donnell and Mary Heaton Vorse.

In the practical dressmaking, housekeeping and entertainment departments appear many interesting contributions, among which are articles on "Sensible Shoes," "The Healthy Baby," "The Practical Kitchen," "How to Make a Sun Dial," "How to Make a Summer Shack," "The Appetizing Beef-steak" and "A Dozen Good Desserts."

Great Weekly at a Low Price.

The Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer, a twelve-page paper recently transformed into the size and appearance of a daily, will be furnished in connection with the Hartford Herald at only $1.35 for the two papers. This price stands good on renewals for The Herald. The Weekly Enquirer is an ideal newspaper, containing a big variety of reading and is especially suited to the farming classes. It is Democratic and progressive. This is certainly a low price for a lot of good reading. if

The May American Magazine.

Probably the most important article in the May American Magazine is a complete and dispassionate account of the great strike at Lawrence written by Ray Stannard Baker. Another important contribution is a statement of the relations between Taft and Roosevelt contributed by William Allen White, under the title, "Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten?" Other articles are: "Freak Plays That Have Decided Baseball Championships," by Hugh S. Fullerton; "The New Stagecraft," by Walter Prichard Eaton; "La Follette's Autobiography," and "The Irresponsible Woman and the Friendless Child," by Ida M. Tarbell.

Notable among the pieces of short fiction in the number are: "Bringing the Years," by Kathleen Norris, author of "Mother;" "His Upward Step," by Marion Hill, and "The Man Who Knew Life," by Philip Curtiss.

In the "Interesting People" department there are two unusual short articles, one about N. C. Hanks, a sightless, armless lecturer who made a great success in the world after one of the most horrible catastrophes that ever happened to a man. There is also an account of James A. Durkin, the most famous office boy in the world. In the office of a great Chicago daily he has been for years the universal encyclopedia, directory and autocrat. The story of Jimmy Durkin is good, amusing reading.

The Demons of the Swamp Are mosquitoes. As they sting, they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite flies and the strength falls; also malaria often paves the way for deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and cast out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a fine appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "three bottles drove all the malaria from my system, and I've had good health ever since." Best for all stomach, liver and kidney ills. 50c at James H. Williams. m

CHARGES COLONEL WITH DISPENSING MUCH CASH

Taft's Campaign Manager Says Roosevelt Men Are Lavish With Coin.

Washington, April 25.—Director McKinley, of the National Taft Bureau, to-day issued a statement calling attention to the alleged use of money in the Roosevelt campaign.

"The lavish expenditure of money in this campaign by the backers of former President Theodore Roosevelt," says the statement, "has led to the question being raised: Were the victories of Roosevelt in Pennsylvania and Oklahoma due to a 'great popular demand' for his renomination or to the use of money?"

Further along Mr. McKinley says: "In no pre-convention campaign in the history of the country has money been used in such large sums, amounting, in view of the general verdict of the country with respect to certain expenditures by Senators of the United States, to plain bribery and corruption, as has been expended by the backers of Theodore Roosevelt."

Mr. McKinley declares the Roosevelt forces spent large sums in Oklahoma; that they distributed $100,000 in Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, including Pittsburgh, by issuing 20,000 pieces of "script" in $5 denomination to "messengers;" that the total Roosevelt expenditures in Pennsylvania were between $250,000 and $500,000; that in New York county alone $200,000 was spent in an endeavor to influence the primaries, and that efforts were made to "buy out" precinct captains in New York.

"In this connection," says the McKinley statement, "one district captain in New York did sell out to the Roosevelt managers, plainly showing that Mr. Roosevelt was not the candidate in answer to a great popular demand, but the beneficiary of a bag of good hard dollars."

UNSUNG HEROES ALSO DESERVE GREAT PRAISE

Washington, April 26.—"The real heroes of the Titanic went down to depths unsung and their bravery unheralded, and the millionaires are getting credit for such a large share of courage that nobody has been paying attention to 'poor devils,'" said Representative Victor L. Berger, the Wisconsin Socialist, to-day.

"Every year we kill thousands to save money and pay dividends," said Berger. "The Titanic horror is only one instance. There are now plenty of bills pending in Congress to safeguard travel, just because the millionaires sank with the boat."

Berger said that while he did not wish to belittle the heroism of the rich, that we must not lose sight of the real heroes, who were the working people who stuck to their post of duty.

TOO POOR TO TAKE OUT NATURALIZATION PAPERS

Ray Stannard Baker, writing a report of the Lawrence strike in the May American Magazine, shows how poverty among the mill workers of New England is at such a stage that many foreigners who are eligible to vote and would like to vote if they could afford it, are unable to because of the expense of making out naturalization papers. "One very intelligent Pole whom Mr. Baker asked why he did not become a voter replied very simply, 'It costs four dollars to take out papers, and I have never seen the time when I could spare so much money.'" As a matter of fact, only three in ten of the males eligible for citizenship in Lawrence have taken out their naturalization papers. Mr. Baker goes on: "The result of this condition has been that Lawrence has for years been governed by saloon-keepers, dive-owners and petty grafters. No sooner does a foreigner become a voter than he learns that voting is to be paid for—if not in money, then in beer and cigars. A fine lesson for prospective citizens in American civic institutions!"

A Companionable Magazine. The May issue of Lippincott's Magazine is both refreshing and invigorating, well suited to the season of reviving energies. The complete novel (salient feature) is "Their Great Inheritance," a delightful story of Pennsylvania-German life, by Elsie Singmaster, who has already made a name for herself along these lines with her clever short stories.

Another important contribution is the first of a series of three hard-hitting articles by Hubert Bruce Fuller, on "How Congress Squanders Our Money."

Among the short fictions are Newman Flower's "The Little Band in the Pines," a war story; Norma Bright Carson's "From the Land of the Lighthouse," a sketch suggested by Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird;" George Allan England's "Primavera," dealing with the spring of the year, and of life; Matthew Baird's "The Hooversburg Trip," with its lesson for bridge-lovers; Daisy Vanderbilt's "The Unexpected Express Package;" Richard J. Walsh's "Two Halves of a Check;" Eugene Boylan's "The Black Sheep's Fold;" and Thomas L. Masson's "A Christian Spirit."

"A Little Tragedy" is a rather remarkable sketch by Margaret Louise London.

"Walnuts and Wine," the humor department, is full of clever things by both known and unknown humorists. "Twentieth Century Travel," devoted to automobiling, is conducted by Churchill Williams.

The Constancy-Stricken Stockholder.

In the May American Magazine, Ray Stannard Baker, writing a report of the Lawrence strike, shows how the mill workers live in poverty, and how the stockholders, none of whom lives in Lawrence where he can see how his money is made, have derived exorbitant profits. During the strike one stockholder in the mills visited Lawrence and saw what was going on. So constancy-stricken was he by conditions as he saw them at first that he contributed secretly to the strike fund.

OLLIE IS AFTER HALY AND MAYO

About Alleged Statement They Issued.

THINKS CONFIDENTIAL TALK

Was Not Intended for Publication—Danger of No Instruction Idea.

JAMES WANTS AN UNMASKING

Washington, April 29.—Representative Ollie James tonight asked some pertinent questions of John C. C. Mayo and Percy Haly about the statement issued from the Harmon headquarters here last week in which they stated that "eighty of 119 counties" in Kentucky are for Gov. Harmon, and so are they. Mr. James wants to know why Haly and Mayo are more confidential with the Harmon headquarters here than with the Democrats at home.

The statement that Haly and Mayo are really for Harmon under the guise of an un instructed delegation was evidently given the Harmon managers as a secret without thought on the part of the Kentuckians that it would be issued publicly. In his interview tonight Mr. James charges that the issuing of the statement by the Harmon headquarters was an undoubted blunder and one little dreamed of by Haly and Mayo when they uttered the sentiments ascribed to them. Inquiries at the Harmon headquarters elicited the assertion that Haly and Mayo called there Friday in person, despite reports that Haly was in Frankfort on that day.

"I have all along insisted that these gentlemen, of whom Mr. Percy Haly and Mr. Mayo are the leaders, should uncover their candidate and tell the Democrats of Kentucky whom they really are for, under the pretense of an 'un instructed delegation' blind," said Mr. James.

"Now comes the statement issued by the Harmon headquarters in the Capital of the nation which shows that Haly and Mayo are more confident to the Harmon managers here than they are to the Democracy at home. In Kentucky it is the good of the party that prompts these patriotic gentlemen. In Washington a rush is made for the Harmon headquarters, and the welcome information is gleefully imparted that un instructed delegations mean Harmon. Why are not Haly and Mayo as confidential with the boys at home as they are with the Harmon leaders in Washington? Do they fear to be frank with the people?"

"I have all along known that these gentlemen were not for Clark. I have always believed they were attempting to deliver our State over to some candidate they feared to openly advocate before the people. Now, the cat is out of the bag. Beyond question the Harmon headquarters blundered in issuing the statement. Haly and Mayo no doubt thought they were talking entirely confidential, but light sometimes shines where least desired or expected.

"This incident only serves to emphasize the danger of following the un instructed delegation policy. If these gentlemen are for Gov. Harmon, why not say so and not try to fool the people by claiming to be for an un instructed delegation? Because they don't know whom they are for and are trying to do in the dark that which they fear to attempt in the light."

Haly-Mayo Statement.

As issued from the Harmon headquarters Friday night last, the Haly-Mayo statement is verbatim as follows:

"From Harmon National Headquarters, New Ebbitt House, Washington, April 26, 1912:

"Gov. Harmon has about eighty counties in Kentucky out of 119, and we are hoping for an un instructed delegation."

"This statement was made to-day by Gen. Percy Haly, of Frankfort, to the heads of Gov. Harmon's headquarters. It confirmed the telegram sent earlier this week by State Auditor Henry Cosworth, who said that in his judgment Kentucky would send an un instructed delegation to Baltimore, despite the effort of the Wilson and Clark forces to gain control.

"J. C. C. Mayo, who is in Washington with Gen. Haly, and other prominent Kentuckians explained the situation in that State as follows:

"The main fight is in Louisville, where the city administration may be more or less for Mr. Clark. While I think that Gov. Harmon, because of his splendid administrative record in Ohio, is stronger throughout the counties, there undoubtedly will be a fight in the State convention. The majority of the State officers are for Gov. Harmon, and, of course, their strength will count in the result."

A GREAT MEETING IN A VERY IMPORTANT CAUSE

The Kentucky Educational Association which will hold its next annual session at Louisville on June 25, 26, and 27, 1912, was never more prosperous. There was never a time when so many of the progressive teachers of the State were interested in its work. It has had a phenomenal growth and now has a permanent membership of more than 1,200 members. Live educational topics are discussed by men and women who know. Aside from the splendid program, the fine music and the many other advantages, the privilege of seeing old friends and making new ones, and, in fact, the privilege of being a part of such a meeting, stir the enthusiasm and sends the teacher back to his work with many a new idea and many a resolution that the stay-at-home never feels.

"MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS" IN KENTUCKY MOUNTAINS

Washington, April 29.—The pathetic appeal of a Kentucky mountain woman, 86 years old, that she be taught to read that she might have the comfort of her Bible before she died, was the inspiration for the establishment of the Hindman Settlement School, in an isolated mountain section of Kentucky, according to Miss Katherine Pettit, a teacher at this school who is here to deliver an address before the Southern Industrial Educational Association in support of the movement to put educational facilities within reach of the mountaineers.

The establishment of "Moonlight Schools" for men and women, Miss Pettit says, is proving a most beneficial work and she believes this philanthropic endeavor should be encouraged and helped along in every way.

One of the striking demonstrations of the spread of enlightenment among these people, Miss Pettit said, is the gradual but certain elimination of early marriages.

AN UPPERCUT FROM THE FAIR FIGHTER'S FIST

Knocks Out Mabel Williams in Seventh Round—Girl Wins Championship.

Saginaw, Mich., April 26.—In a private gymnasium, fitted up in one of the most prominent residences in Flint, with only one woman and a man as referee present, Myrtle Havers, 19 years old, of Flint, knocked out Mabel Williams, aged 22, of Grand Rapids, Mich., in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round fight and won the girls' championship of Michigan to-night. The two fought with eight-ounce gloves and under straight Queensbury rules. Miss Williams, who has been known as the best woman boxer in Michigan for several years, was knocked into dreamland with a stiff uppercut after she had severely punished Miss Havers in the early part of the seventh round.

The two had fiddled through the early rounds feeling each other out and sparring for points. But at the beginning of the seventh round the Grand Rapids girl opened up a notch and let loose a volley of straight rights and lefts, which caught the Flint challenger on the eyes.

Miss Havers's right eye was closed. Then she set sail and began to flail the air with blows and the uppercut went home. Miss Williams stayed down the ten seconds and was duly counted out.

Friends of the winner, picked her up on their shoulders and decorated her with the club colors, pink and white, and have sent to Chicago for a bronze medal, which they say will be emblematic of the girl's being champion of the State.

IF UNINSTRUCTED, LET THEM BE CLAIRVOYANTS

Washington, April 26.—Representative A. O. Stanley thinks that an un instructed delegation from Kentucky to the Baltimore convention should be composed entirely of mind-readers. No others need apply.

"Clairvoyants are the only men who even profess to be able to peer into people's minds," said Mr. Stanley, "and they prefer to take their subjects one at a time. If it is seriously entertained, which I doubt, to send an un instructed delegation, I shall insist that clairvoyants prevail, so that the minds of $250,000 Kentucky Democrats may be read at Baltimore when a President is nominated."

"Those who favor an un instructed delegation must believe that there is somewhere a better candidate than Clark. Let them name him. Otherwise they are in the position of backing the field of outsiders against a Kentuckian."

WHY not a shoemaking genius as well as a Rembrandt or a Millet? And why not a shoemaking Worth as well as a dressmaking Worth? There is—as an inspection of the new "Queen Quality" models we now have on display will prove. Many of the new "Queen Quality" Boots might aptly be called art creations, so really beautiful are they. They stand out from the average shoes as does a beautifully gowned woman amongst the commonplace. Yet an interesting feature of "Queen Quality" Shoes is their moderate price—$3.50 and $4.00 for "Custom Grade"—$3.00 and $3.50 for the Regular.
